Acting chief deputy's records disappeared

Questioned April 10, 1974, by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service, Captain John Cooper of the Madison County Sheriff's Department said records maintained by Captain Demos Nicholas disappeared immediately after the latter's death in 1972.

Some surviving staff members now blame Capt. Nicholas for alleged departmental improprieties.

Q "In other words, your phrase of it, you reported to Nicholas and Grzywacz reported to the sheriff?" Cooper was asked.

A "Well, if he reported to the sheriff he did it on his own," Cooper said.

"I mean, I — it was under my impression, but I am sure that the sheriff had him report to him for this reason: There was this big feud between the sheriff and Nicholas.

"It was a long-standing thing which involved the sheriff's brother when Demos Nicholas was the treasurer of the City of Madison.

"And it was a long feud and it was a power struggle, and I was in the middle all the time, and that's why I didn't like it.

"You ask me about County, I am sure that we have a lot of reports that were made up (under Sheriff) Fraundorf and under (Sheriff) Musso; where they are, I don't know.

"The ones with Captain Nicholas, what happened to them I don't know.

"All I know is when Captain Nicholas died, there were a number of people. Now, his desk was locked. There was a number of people that had gone through his desk, for whatever reason, I don't know.

"But they had gone through his desk and removed several things from his desk; like guns, different — the reports.

"When we officially went through Demos' desk, I believe the next day after he died, there were just a lot of things that weren't there.

"What the reason, I don't know.

"At the time, they really weren't significant to me. Some of it appears now that it might be significant because of some of the things that are happening up there now.

"It seems there's another power struggle going on, it seems like the sheriff and I are not always on the best of terms.

"He's always on my back about this or that, little insignificant things. He just — he and I just don't see eye to eye on a lot of things.

"I hate to get into that area, in fact I — to be perfectly honest, I hated to even come down without him listening to what I say, because I am sure that the man doesn't trust me. It's probably unrelated to this, so I won't discuss it."

Q "But as far as you are concerned then, you did not see anything that looked like a deputy going into a particular establishment and being there for the purpose of soliciting a payoff?"

A "I really don't think so, Mr. Wehrheim, I don't think so. If I — let me put it this way, the things that I have discussed with you now are things that are significant to me.

"So, consequently, had I seen a deputy sheriff going in there and spending any length of time, that would be significant to me. I don't think I would ever forget something like that because I would want to know why he was in there."

'If anybody gets paid off, it's the sheriff' — Skundrich

Q "And no one of these people had ever admitted to you that there were — yeah well let us go back. Did — after your initial contact with them, what came next? A surveillance?"

A "Yeah, the surveillance and putting people in there and trying to bust them."

Q "Did you ever go back and contact them again?"

A "After they were busted?"

MR. WEHRHEIM: "No, before."

A "Well, when you say again I —"

MR. WEHRHEIM: "I mean warn them again or anything."

A "No, I think I have warned them on two or three occasions, but of course it was only to let them know and we harassed them quite a bit."

"In fact, we put cars down there on the lot; we had squad cars sitting across the street."

"In fact, Cliff called me one time and said, hey, what the heck is going on down there; he said, you people got —"

"He said, my customers are afraid to come in here. I said, well we are not sure, but we got a tip that there's an armed robbery and we just don't know whether it's going to be your place, the service station or what."

"Because I didn't want him filing suit for harassment. I went through that under Fraundorf with some tavern owners."

"I said, well we're not sure but I think there's going to be an armed robbery; we got a tip. So I think we put cars down there for several — several weeks, we went around the clock Friday, Saturday.

"We really tried to drive them out, but that didn't do it. And we busted them and stopped them for awhile.

"I'm even sure to this day that he runs some kind of an operation out there because, they're still there from time to time.

"Just as I am sure the Club J — in fact, we busted the Maddalino's Paddock Lounge.

"He was warned; I don't know. Maddalino, would never know him if I saw him.

"I ran the investigation on it; reported to the Board of Supervisors. The kind — he has a background that doesn't tell you much.

"It just tells you he's kind of a bum, so to speak. He's been involved in drinking, fighting, whatever arrests in Collinsville were not a felony.

"I explained this to the chairman of the Liquor Committee; it wasn't sufficient to warrant not to give him the license, so they gave him the license."

"The chairman explained to him what

Further talks in an effort to reach a contract agreement between Southern Illinois contractors and members of the District Illinois Laborers Union are scheduled this afternoon at the Holiday Inn, Collinsville.

Talks broke off Friday with "some significant progress," according to Wayne Barber, executive manager of the Southern Illinois Builders Association, but terms involving wages and work hours still are at issue, he said.

The strike of laborers entered its 14th day today, tying up an estimated $850 million in highway and building projects in the Illinois metropolitan area.

Laborers are reported asking for a greater increase than the 7 percent per year granted in a three-year contract approved for three other construction crafts. They also are reported opposing changes in work rules, including a reduction in overtime pay from double

Record galvanized output at GC Steel

Figures just completed show that Granite City Steel set new records last month for production of galvanized steel — one of its oldest product lines.

The company is widely known for its zinc-coated galvanized Strongbar and Strongpanel roofing and siding materials, long a favorite of builders of farm and industrial structures.

No. 7 Galvanizing Line set a record in total tons produced and in its tons-per-hour rate, coating a total of 17,838 tons of steel during July at a rate of 34.2 tons an hour.

This enabled the North Plant unit to ship a record 33,433 tons of steel, topping the previous record of January 1974 by 1,100 tons.

Total galvanized prime shipments were 33,885 tons, exceeding the June record by over 4,000 tons.

At present, galvanized material makes up 20 percent to 25 percent of total GC Steel customer shipments.

Another record last month was in daily truck loadings, as a total of 233 trucks loaded with steel were weighed July 31 at the GC Steel truck scale in a single day, topping the previous record of 245.

Only limited effect here if CETA is cut

A sharp cutback in the nation's major federal jobs and training program by House action in Washington last week is not likely to have any immediate effect on Madison County's Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA), according to Dan Churovich, director of the county program.

After a 12-hour debate last week, the House voted to cut 100,000 of the 750,000 public service jobs and cut workers' maximum salaries as well. At the same time it was reported more cuts are likely on a four-year, $11 billion extension of the act.

Final action is expected this week. Madison County's CETA program includes, among others, the employment of ten emergency medical technicians with the Granite City Ambulance Service, paying $10,000 annually of the EMT's salaries.

The program provides other workers and trainees in public agencies.

Churovich's office said that Madison County now has a total of 684 public service employees, and that salary expenditures for the past nine months in Madison and Bond counties, which make up the area, was approximately $4.5 million.

Churovich said that he does not expect

Course on Mao, Truman, Stalin

During the fall quarter, the office of Off-Campus Programs and the department of historical studies at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will offer a mini-course on three political leaders whose ideas and policies shaped the post-World War II world.

Classes for the course, Truman, Stalin and Mao (HIST 300-2), will meet on the campus of Lewis and Clark Community College in Godfrey beginning Sept. 26.

Sessions will convene in Room 206 of Wade Hall from 7:15 p.m. until 9:05 p.m., on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Students satisfactorily completing the mini-course will earn two quarter hours of university credit. The course is scheduled to be completed within six weeks.

Stuart Weiss, professor of historical studies at SIUE, will be the instructor.

"Truman, Stalin and Mao (HIST 300-2) follows the emergence of the men as leaders in the United States, Russia and China, the world's strongest and most influential nations for the last 20 years."

Weiss said.

Emphasis will focus on their personalities and motives, and their interaction with the countries they led and with each other.

Within the brief span of the mini-course, students will explore the psycho-biographies of Truman, Stalin and Mao. They will also examine the "revolutionary transformation in American foreign policy" after World War II and the Chinese and Russian revolutions.

The course is designed to meet the needs of anyone working toward a liberal arts degree or anyone interested in learning more about history.

Clyde Fisher, assistant director of Off-Campus Programs at SIUE, said the course covers "an era when a lot of decisions were made that influenced what is happening today."

Registration may be completed by visiting the Office of Off-Campus Programs on the local campus or on the first night of classes. The office is located in Room 1311 of the Peck Classroom building.

Additional information relating to the course, tuition or textbook purchases may be obtained by contacting Fisher at 692-3210.

Recovery, Inc. group to hold first meeting here

The newly-organized Granite City group of Recovery, Inc., a non-profit organization which employs a system of self-help psychotherapy, will hold its first meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. on the main floor of the Niedringhaus United Methodist Church.

The group formed for residents of the Quad-City area is one of 1,500 such groups internationally that serve nervous and emotionally disturbed persons and former mental patients.

The organization's philosophy is based on will power as a means of overcoming disturbing thoughts, sensations and emotions, a spokesman said.

Recovery, Inc. was founded in 1937 by the late Dr. Abraham A. Low, a psychiatrist at the University of Illinois Medical School.

Although Recovery was organized primarily to meet the needs of the patient recently released from the hospital, it since has been recognized as an effective and beneficial support for emotionally disturbed persons, hopefully stabilizing them before they reach the point of mental collapse, the spokesman said.

Recovery groups hold weekly meetings in 1,500 locations throughout the United States, Canada, Puerto Rico and Ireland and has 15,000 members including businessmen, secretaries, community and government leaders, clergymen, doctors, homemakers, lawyers, teachers and factory workers.

The two-hour weekly meetings are conducted by trained leaders and are open to the public to persons 18 years of age or older, at no charge.

There are 13 groups in this Illinois metropolitan area. For further information, Quad-Cityans may call 254-3662 or write to Area Headquarters, Recovery, Inc., 3 Hanley Drive, Belleville, Ill. 62223.

United Way here aids 53 families in 'small' disasters

Fifty-three families whose homes were destroyed by fire received over $4,500 in assistance to help rebuild their lives after disaster struck during the past 16 months, because Tri-Cities Area United Way givers made possible the establishment of a "single family to four family" disaster aid program.

In a report to the United Way, Red Cross officials noted that the families assisted included people living and employed in the Quad-Cities.

Aided were 24 families in Granite City, 16 in Madison, one in Venice, two in Pontoon Beach, one in Mitchell and six from nearby areas in Madison County and employed locally.

Nearly $3,000 was disbursed to local merchants to provide immediate help with clothing needs, and nearly $900 was spent for basic furniture needs, with the balance for food.

"The value of this program is self-evident in terms of numbers alone. However, these statistics do not give the entire picture, nor the real and human United Way service stories which are United Way agency professionals encounter daily in their dedicated work," the United Way general campaign communications chairman John Blasingame, commented today.

"For instance," Blasingame added, "consider the case of a local woman employed in one of the local plants who had a fire disaster strike."

"Her home, a trailer, burned up completely. Every personal belonging, clothes, furniture and utensils—items of intimate value such as children's, parents' or grandparents' pictures and many more items which cannot be replaced at any cost, were lost forever."

"There is no way we can truly know the extent to which a tragedy such as this affects the lives of those who suffer the loss of their homes and possessions."

"But it is comforting to know that generous United Way givers provided the funding needed to develop, maintain and continue this humanitarian program. "What would many of us do if we had lost everything, had to wait for perhaps an insurance settlement and were out of work without money, food and clothing, including school clothes—all at the same time, as in the case of this particular woman, and needed immediate help?"

"What would we do in these cases if the unique Tri-Cities Area United Way supported one-to-four-family program wasn't available to provide this community service?"

"Red Cross national disaster assistance is received when five or more families are affected. "What happened to this particular woman? Well, through this special United Way High School sophomore, juniors, and seniors is scheduled Monday, Aug. 21, in the school cafeteria."

Seniors are to report between 9:30 and 11 a.m., and sophomores, between 12:30 and 2 p.m.

Book sales for incoming freshmen will be held on Tuesday, Aug. 22, from 8:30 a.m. until noon. Freshman orientation is scheduled for the following morning beginning at 8:30 a.m.

Mrs. Barnfield, first girl born in GC, dies

The man who first told police about hearing the screams was taken into custody after officers noticed blood on his clothing. He was being questioned today.

Officers arrested the resident of the apartment where the stabbing occurred after he ran from police at Jefferson and Harding avenues and was found hiding under a bush in the 3900 block of West 22nd Street. He allegedly told officers that he stabbed Lewis in self-defense after Lewis cut the man's hand with a knife.

Another young man, who police believe was present when the stabbing occurred, also was taken into custody and the three were being questioned by detectives this morning.

Lewis suffered cuts and stab wounds to his chest, back and arms, but was reported in stable condition today in the hospital.

time to time and one-half in some situations.

The Laborers Union contract, as did those of other construction crafts, expired at midnight, July 31.

A picket line set up by the laborers has ended work on building projects as other crafts members refused to cross the picket line.

Thomas O'Brien of the U.S. Mediation and Conciliation Service, St. Louis, has been sitting in on negotiations since the strike began.

At the beginning of negotiations, the builders resisted a $3.10 per hour increase requested by the laborers for the three years of the contract, but the union later lowered this to $2.65.

According to a union source there still are some "four or five items" of work rules changes to which the union is opposed.

At the same time, it was announced that the Tri-City Carpenters Council, based in East St. Louis and covering St. Clair and Monroe County carpenters, reached an "understanding" with SIBA negotiators Thursday.

The proposal is to be presented in a meeting tonight to the council's delegates.

If they approve the proposed pact, it will be given to the membership for a ratification vote.

On July 21 he announced a $3,800,000 construction program involving 51 new homes in the 7th and 8th Additions of Lueders Park Estates. Contracting work will be handled by SGB Builders, operated by Schroeder and Otis "Bud" Gossnell.

Schroeder has held leadership roles in the Granite City Rotary Club, Chamber of Commerce, Associated Retailers, Multiple Listing Service, Elks, Society of Real Estate Appraisers, Granite City Lions and Granite City Zoning Board.

He currently is president of the Granite City Real Estate Board and a member of the board of directors of the National Association of Realtors.

Schroeder and his wife, Norma, have three sons, Barry, a local school teacher, Greg, who is finishing college and training as a plumber, and Herman, a Granite City High School South student, and a daughter, Olivia, who will be a South freshman this fall.

any cutbacks for Madison and Bond counties during this calendar year since the present program already is financed through October and emergency legislation extending the Act will provide funds through December.

In addition, Chuvich noted, new legislation renewing the act for a four-year period apparently will establish priorities for states with higher unemployment levels. As a result, he said, "We just might luck out in avoiding any serious cutbacks."

House in last week's action voted a $10,000 wage ceiling for most CETA jobs, although the maximum would be $12,000 in high-cost areas.

The current law says the average salary in most CETA projects must not exceed $10,000, although there now is no lid on individual salaries. That has led many cities to supplement federal funds with their own. The average CETA salary nationally is now $7,100.

assault, and said the second man also drew a revolver and then dropped it on the floor. Johnson said he then picked up the gun.

The wounded Johnson said he ran to the end of the tavern and started firing at them. Then, both men ran from the building through the back door.

Neither Johnson nor members of his group said what happened to the weapon afterward.

As police were leaving the hospital, a person who had been in the tavern at the time of the shooting came into the emergency room. He told officers he had lied in making a previous statement to the effect that a third individual was involved in the shooting.

Granite City police learned elsewhere that a man who could be the assailant had been checked into Oliver T. Anderson Hospital, Maryville, at 11:55 p.m. Thursday with a gunshot wound of the hand.

He told authorities there that he had shot himself.

He said he was from Tennessee and was visiting in the Edwardsville area. The man was transferred to Barnes Hospital, St. Louis.

At 12:35 a.m. Friday, police found Johnson seeking help for a gunshot wound of the right leg at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Initially, he declined to say that he had a gun or had fired a shot, but did state that the other man had shot him.

Johnson said he was sitting in Sieb's Tavern with friends when the assailant came in, slapped him a few times and drew a .22 caliber weapon. He said the man fired one shot, hitting him in the right leg.

He named another man as being with his

NOTICE
AMENDMENTS

Pursuant to law in such case made and provided, public notice is hereby given that the following proposed amendments to the Illinois Constitution will be submitted on a separate blue ballot to the electors of the State of Illinois for adoption or rejection at the General Election to be held on November 7, 1978.

PROPOSED
AMENDMENT TO
SECTION 5 OF
ARTICLE IX

Section 5. PERSONAL PROPERTY
TAXATION

(a) The General Assembly by law may classify personal property for purposes of taxation by valuation, abolish such taxes on any and all classes and authorize the levy of taxes in lieu of the valuation of personal property by valuation.

(b) Any ad valorem personal property tax abolished on or before the effective date of this Constitution shall not be reinstated.

(c) The General Assembly by law may abolish all ad valorem personal property taxes and concurrently therewith and thereafter shall replace all revenue lost by units of local government and school districts as a result of the abolition of ad valorem personal property taxes subsequent to January 2, 1971. Such revenue shall be replaced by imposing state-wide taxes, other than ad valorem taxes on real estate, solely on those classes or reliefs of the burden of paying ad valorem personal property taxes because of the abolition of such taxes subsequent to January 2, 1971. If any taxes imposed for such replacement purposes are taxes on or measured by income, such replacement taxes shall not be considered for purposes of the limitations of one tax and the ratio of 8 to 5 set forth in Section 3(a) of this Article.

SCHEDULE
The foregoing Amendment to Section 5 of Article IX of the Constitution takes effect upon its adoption by the electors of this State.

FORM OF BALLOT
The proposed amendment to Article IX will appear upon the constitution ballot in the following form:

PROPOSED
AMENDMENT TO
SECTION 5 OF
ARTICLE IX

(Personal Property Tax)

EXPLANATION OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT

The personal property tax now is imposed on corporations, partnerships and trusts, and any replacement taxes must be imposed on them. Individuals have been exempt from the personal property tax since 1971, and replacement taxes may not be imposed on them.

The proposed Amendment to Article IX, Section 5(c) of the Illinois Constitution now requires that the legislature abolish all personal property taxes on or before January 1, 1979 and simultaneously replace the abolished taxes with new taxes sufficient to replace revenues lost by local governments and school districts.

The proposed Constitutional Amendment eliminates the January 1, 1979 date for abolition and replacement of the tax. Further, the proposed Amendment makes permissible, rather than mandatory, the requirement that the legislature abolish the tax. This Amendment does not change the requirement for replacing the personal property tax in the event the legislature abolishes it.

Place an X in blank opposite "YES" or "NO" to indicate your choice.

	YES	NO
For the proposed Amendment to Section 5 of Article IX of the Constitution.

PROPOSED
AMENDMENT TO
SECTION 6 OF
ARTICLE IX

Section 6. EXEMPTIONS

PROPERTY
TAXATION

The General Assembly by law may exempt from taxation only the property of the State, units of local government and school districts and property used exclusively for post homes of Congressionally chartered veterans' organizations, agricultural and horticultural societies, and for school, religious, cemetery or charitable purposes. The General Assembly by law may grant homestead exemptions or rent credits.

SCHEDULE
This amendment takes effect immediately upon its approval by the electors.

FORM OF BALLOT
The proposed amendment to Article IX will appear upon the constitution ballot in the following form:

PROPOSED
AMENDMENT TO
SECTION 6 OF
ARTICLE IX

(Veterans Organizations' Post Homes Exemption)

EXPLANATION OF

Barton candidacy challenged

Mrs. Helen Hawkins of Nameoki Township who has filed as a third-party candidate in the election of a County Board member in Board District 26 (Nameoki Township) filed with the county clerk's office Friday an objection to the appointment of Robert Barton, a real estate dealer, as a Republican candidate for the board post in the same district.

Mrs. Hawkins, who also is opposed by incumbent Board Member Louis Whitell in the board race, contends in the objection that Barton's appointment was not approved by a quorum of the precinct committee in District 26. There are nine precincts in the district.

Her letter of objection said: "I, Helen M. Hawkins, 2600 Angela Drive, Granite City, Illinois, do officially object to Bob Barton being put on the ballot as a Republican candidate for County Board member, District 26, of Madison County, Illinois.

"He was not an official resident of 3104 Mockingbird Lane when he filed for County Board member. In fact, on July 31, 1978, he resided at 2565 East 27th St., Granite City, in precinct 14 located outside of the County Board District.

"He voted from precinct 14 in the March 21, 1978 primary election and was elected with one vote as the Republican committeeman of that city precinct.

office, telephone company, utilities, and neighbors from both locations, etc.

"My main interest is, I am also a candidate for this office, and I went by the letter of the law (according to the Illinois Election Board) to file. I don't believe this was done by the Republican candidate. I also would not want a person representing me on the County Board if he would falsify under oath while filing for said office.

"Therefore, I believe this individual should not be allowed to appear on the official ballot as a candidate for County Board member, District 26, Madison County Republican party in the general election to be held November 7, 1978."

CBers talkathon to aid March of Dimes

CB clubs in a nine-county area in Illinois will begin a 24-hour talkathon for the March of Dimes at 6 p.m. Friday, Aug. 18.

Last year the CBers raised $7,000 and this year the goal has been set at $25,000.

The nine counties include Bond, Calhoun, Clinton, Jersey, Monroe, Randolph, Washington, St. Clair and Madison.

The March of Dimes finances research in the area of birth defects and helps families with children who have birth defects with hospital and other medical bills in addition to the purchasing of special equipment, braces, wheel chairs and other needs of the children.

Researchers constantly are looking for the clues to birth defects and to find ways to limit or eliminate birth defects in the unborn.

A benefit dinner will be held on Sept. 28 at the Collinsville VFW Hall, 1254 Vandalla St., for all those participating in the talkathon.

Trophies will be awarded to the top three clubs or groups which raise the most money during the event.

The dinner will begin at 7:30 p.m.

March of Dimes representatives in the Granite City area may be reached at 677-3197, 678-5600 or 797-0496.

Schedule adjustments, new student enrollment at South

On Friday, Aug. 18, between 8 a.m. and 3:30 p.m., registration will be held in the auditorium at Granite City High School South for students who have moved into the district and will be attending South. Also, students who have withdrawn from school may register at that time.

Because of scheduling procedures, students who do not register will lose a day of school and may be required to take final examinations.

Students new to the district will need records from previous schools and completed physical and dental forms. Students who have dropped from school will need to clear any prior obligations, such as lost books, a spokesman said.

Those who are planning to be in the cooperative work-study program may also report to their counselors on Aug. 18 to discuss the possibility of assignment.

The next opening for South registration will be Aug. 25.

On Monday, Aug. 21, South juniors and seniors will report to the auditorium between 8 a.m. and 3:30 p.m.

On Tuesday, Aug. 22, freshmen and sophomores will report to the auditorium between 8 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. for the following:

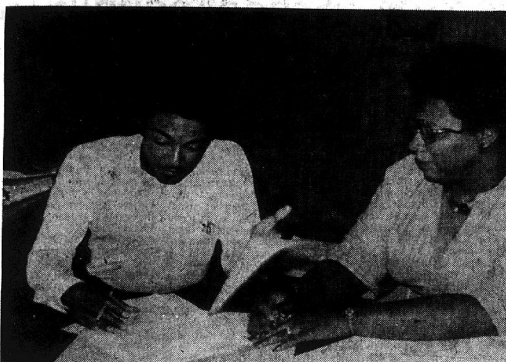

1. Receive a copy of fall class schedule.

2. Clear any prior obligations, such as lost books.

3. Check with counselor, if necessary, for any schedule adjustments.

Students may report at any time during the day according to the above schedule. School buses will not be running.

South Student Council members will be available on Aug. 22 to conduct tours of the building for freshmen and others who are interested.

EDUCATIONAL-VOCATIONAL FAIR plans are reviewed by Charles Haynes, Madison County Housing Authority social worker, and Barbara Madison, community relations specialist, Madison County Urban League, Inc. The career day activity is scheduled Friday, Aug. 18, from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. at the Venice Recreation Center, 305 Broadway. The public is invited to attend.

Educational-Vocational Fair Friday in Venice

The Madison County Urban League and the Madison County Housing Authority are planning a career day activity Friday, Aug. 18, from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., at the Venice Recreation Center, 305 Broadway, Venice.

The event will be a "Educational-Vocational Fair" according to Barbara Madison, Urban League public relations specialist, and Charles Haynes, a social worker on the county housing authority staff.

All area residents are invited to attend, with special invitations issued to families living in county housing projects.

Participating schools and agencies will be Coordinated Youth Services, Scouting America, Office of Manpower, Venice-Lincoln Technical School, Belleville Area College, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, the Educational Opportunity Center Office, Junior Achievement and the Illinois State Job Service.

Representatives from the various schools and agencies will have brochures available detailing their programs and answer questions concerning selection of a career.

Also available to those attending the fair will be information about sources of training and the possibility of jobs after training concludes, the local planners reported.

Work-study counseling scheduled

In an effort to simplify the procedure by which a cooperative education student can be placed in a work-study position — and to avoid changing a student's schedule to include co-op after the semester has begun — co-op coordinators and counselors will be available at the North and South high schools three days prior to the opening day of school this fall.

They will be present Aug. 18, 21 and 22 to pre-register students for co-op. The fall school term will start Aug. 24. Employers interested in a co-op student are being asked to contact a coordinator during this three-day period.

"Students interested in cooperative education should contact their counselor," a spokesman said.

Free lectures on Monet

Five free lectures related to the French Impressionist painter, Claude Monet, will be given at the St. Louis Art Museum in September and October. All lectures are supported by the National Endowment for the Humanities and will be at 8 p.m. in the auditorium.

Due to anticipated interest in the lecture series in conjunction with "Monet at Giverny," free reserved tickets should be ordered from the program office. These tickets will be honored only until 7:45 on the evening of the lecture, after which seating will be by a first-come first-served basis.

Two tickets for each lecture on Sept. 5, 12 and 26 and Oct. 3 and 17 can be ordered by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to: Program Office, The St. Louis Art Museum, 6665 Delmar Blvd., St. Louis, Mo. 63130.

The first lecture will be given on Sept. 5 by Charles Moffett, associate curator of European paintings at The Metropolitan Museum of Art, and coordinator of the exhibition. He will speak on the exhibition itself, "Monet's Years at Giverny: Beyond Impressionism."

On Sept. 12, George Heard Hamilton, former director of the Sterling and Francine Clark Art Institute and author of the book, "19th and 20th Century Art," will compare the later works of the two chief Impressionist artists—Monet and Cezanne.

Richard Bliven, associate professor of history at the University of Missouri at Columbia, will speak Sept. 26 on the state of society, politics and social thought in France, circa 1900.

On Oct. 3, Roger Whitney Shattuck, professor of French at the University of Virginia, will speak on arts and letters in turn-of-the-century France.

The Oct. 12 lecture will be by Charles F. Stucky, art history professor at John Hopkins University, Baltimore. His subject is "Monet and Politics: What Goes into Giving Waterlilies to the State."

Woman says she was struck by prowler

A Granite City woman who was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital last week after she was beaten in her home reported Friday that she was struck by someone in the basement when she went there to investigate sounds she had heard.

The woman denied earlier reports that she was beaten by her husband. She said she had heard noises in the basement and that the family had been bothered by prowlers on several occasions. She went to the basement to investigate and was struck by "someone" from behind, she said.

ENTER SALVATION ARMY Cindy Kirchner, a Salvation Army Center employee, reported last week a door at the corner was forced and a CB radio, valued at $200, and a 10-speed bicycle, worth $80, were stolen. Other items may have been taken, she said.

Prosecutor will speak

The Madison County Legal Secretaries Association will hold a regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 5, at Charlie's, Granite City.

Dinner will be at 6:30 p.m. and the meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. Stephanie Robbins, a Madison County assistant state's attorney, will be guest speaker, Virginia Cherry, publicity chairman, said.

Corrective diet urged for youngsters with blood fat

The Illinois Heart Association is recommending that children in families with a high risk of heart or blood vessel disease be examined by a physician and be placed on a corrective diet if they have excessive levels of fat in their blood.

Fats such as cholesterol or triglyceride can cause a condition known medically as hyperlipidemia, which is related to atherosclerosis, a disease in which arteries become clogged with fatty deposits.

The Heart Association adds that — although evidence does not yet support a recommendation that cholesterol and saturated fat should be reduced in the diet of all children — the public should be advised that such modification appears safe and likely to be beneficial in reducing or retarding the risk of atherosclerotic disease in adult years.

A high-risk family is defined as one in which either or both parents have hyperlipidemia or high blood pressure, or a family in which parents or grand-parents have suffered a heart attack or a stroke or developed a blood vessel disease before the age of 50.

Children from high-risk families should be examined carefully for hyperlipidemia with at least two, preferably three, repetitive samplings of their blood fats, says the Heart Association.

Those whose cholesterol and triglyceride levels rank in the top 10 percent of their age and sex groups should be placed on a diet specific to the type of hyperlipidemia the child has, after ruling out other diseases or drugs as the cause, it is explained.

The Illinois Heart Association is an affiliate of the American Heart Association, which developed the statement on hyperlipidemia in children.

The statement said opinion is nearly unanimous among physicians and scientists about changing the diet of children with diet-induced hyperlipidemia.

Contributing to the statement were Dr. Charles J. Glueck of the University of Cincinnati; Dr. Henry McGill Jr., University of Texas, San Antonio; Dr. Robert E. Shank, Washington University, St. Louis; and Dr. Ronald M. Lauer, University Hospital, Iowa City.

RETREAT FOR WIDOWERS
A retreat for widows and widowers will be held at the Family Life Center, Pevely, Mo., the weekend of Aug. 25-27, under the direction of the Rev. Lucien Bianchi.

School equality accepted in state

"In an overwhelming majority of Illinois' 1,012 school districts, school desegregation is no longer a socially or politically controversial issue. Rather, it has evolved into well-accepted if not ingrained practice of providing the best educational settings for all students attending public schools," says State Board member Donald Muirhead.

Many school districts, he explained, are beginning to turn their attention to what social scientists are terming "second generation" concerns — what happens after the initial implementation years of a desegregation plan.

"Desegregation unfortunately does remain a heated issue in a handful of this state's school districts," said Muirhead, who chairs the board's Equal Educational Opportunity Committee.

"Not all districts have accepted desegregation as a practice. But with the passing of each year, more and more of Illinois' schools are becoming fully integrated and, importantly, it is being done peacefully. This year is no exception."

The initiative recently displayed by the state's two most populous school districts, Chicago 299 and Rockford 266, are more reflective of the continuing progress being made toward eliminating racially identifiable elementary and secondary schools in Illinois, Muirhead observed.

Desegregating Chicago's city schools, long the topic of disagreement and debate, is considered significantly more attainable as a result of the district's recently developed desegregation plan, Access to Excellence.

Chicago's plan, composed of a "permissive transfer program" and an "open enrollment program," is designed to encourage integration of the public school through voluntary participation of the students in various educational enrichment programs. Chicago public schools officials project that, by implementing the initial phases of their plan, an additional 30,000 students will be attending classes in desegregated settings this fall.

Rockford 201 has been making progress with desegregating its schools over the past couple of years through the use of "magnet schools" and a mixture of voluntary transfer plans. "Rockford public school officials, community groups, parents and students can be especially proud of their collective movement toward desegregating city schools,"

State School Superintendent Joseph M. Cronin commented. "According to our reports," Cronin said, "the efforts will have brought about the elimination of racially identifiable schools when the 1978-79 school year begins, and that's quite an accomplishment."

In the fall of 1978, the question no longer remains whether or not we will have desegregated schools in Illinois," Muirhead said, "but rather what are the long-term goals of the movement to provide quality integrated education?"

The impact of desegregation following several years of plan implementation is becoming of increasing importance to educators and community leaders. According to Dr. Cronin, "School districts need to seek advice in areas such as community information and education, teacher development, and long-range analyses of attitudes and achievement to encourage an educationally productive transition from desegregation to integration."

"Those best prepared to offer advice to others on school desegregation are those who have experienced it first-hand," he added.

Among those where he has cited progress are the Madison public schools.

Some Illinois districts are beginning their eighth or tenth year of implementation. "For the first time, we have a generation of elementary students whose entire experience has been a desegregated one," Dr. Cronin said. "These schools and these students can provide the resources to help others discover the necessary components for a successful transition from desegregation to integration."

In an effort to provide school officials and other community leaders with this type of assistance, the Illinois Office of Education (IOE) has formed a consortium of school superintendents, administrators and board members from districts which have been implementing desegregation plans for three or more years.

"This group, representing districts from throughout the state, is available to any school or community to share their cumulative knowledge and experience in a wide variety of areas," Cronin noted. Those interested in working with the consortium may contact IOE's

Equal Educational Opportunity Section.

"Illinois school district leaders have been quite inventive and resourceful as they have developed and implemented their desegregation plans."

"Communities such as Champaign, Decatur, Cahokia and others have creatively turned the problems posed by enrollment decline and school closings into solutions for desegregating their schools."

"Districts such as Park Forest, Evanston, Oak Park, South Holland, Kankakee, Markham and numerous others have demonstrated how to measurably improve educational programs through the process of desegregation. Minority children as well as white children have shown increased achievement in these programs," Supt. Cronin said.

The collective experiences of these Illinois school districts are consistent with the findings of research done across the United States, according to Cronin.

"A report based on a study of all research done in the U.S. on the relationships between desegregation and minority achievement," research by Robert Crain and Rita Mahard conclude that the "positive results far outnumber the negative ones." Desegregation works in achievement terms, say Crain and Mahard; it usually raises black achievement, and rarely does it harm white achievement.

Their research, which was commissioned by the National Review Panel on School Desegregation Research with support from the National Institute of Education and the Ford Foundation, reviews 73 different studies of specific desegregation plans in all parts of the United States.

Crain and Mahard found that there are three primary reasons why desegregation raises black achievement: formerly white schools sometimes have better facilities, a mixture of social classes is educationally beneficial, and blacks profit from the opportunity to attend schools with whites.

Researchers agree, say Crain and Mahard, that receptive teachers, an adequate curriculum, a serious effort to establish good race relations, and sound leadership are the necessary conditions for successful desegregation.

Another component of these findings is that the process must begin in the earliest possible grade. "One study showed that even postponing desegregation until the second grade caused problems," Crain and Mahard wrote.

"This research points out very clearly," observed Supt. Cronin, "that the process of desegregation is not a foolproof one. Like other types of educational change, desegregation can be done well or badly."

"If it is done well, as it has been accomplished in a growing number of Illinois communities, then there is no reason why the desegregation process can't be used to strengthen the educational opportunities available in our public schools."

AND SAVINGS BANK

With constantly rising costs, most of us are increasingly concerned about our family finances. Stretching the dwindling dollar to cover all increasing needs requires a record of what you spend, when you spend it, and what you spent it for. Since most of us are too absent-minded to jot down such notations at the time of each expenditure, the best record is a bank checking account. It's an almost foolproof method, since your returned checks become your permanent record of spending. And a cancelled check is an automatic and indisputable receipt for every purchase. And the printed form on the back of your monthly bank statement where you simply fill in the blanks, practically balances your book for you in only minutes.

If you have questions about how a checking account can help you with your personal or family finances, see any of our officers. When they advise you on financial matters... you can BANK on it!

Fed up with inflation? U.S. budget balance could solve it

By ROBERT ESTILL

Press-Record

Washington Bureau
Taxpayers fed up with inflation, high taxes and federal spending have some reason for optimism, according to Rep. Robert McClell, R-Lake Bluff. After years of more oratory than action, a constitutional amendment to fill the big inflation-fueling gap — the difference between what the federal government takes in and what it spends — now has a good chance, McClell said. A constitutional amendment requiring balanced federal budgets, except in times of war or national emergency, could be submitted by Congress to the states for ratification as early as next fall, he said.

McClell, ranking Republican on the House Judiciary Committee, has some basis for his optimism. A mandatory budget balancer could provide some relief for the consumers if it reduced inflation, but it might not necessarily help taxpayers.

There are two ways to end deficit spending by the federal government: one way is to cut spending to bring it in line with revenues, and the other is to increase taxes to match federal spending.

But the hope is that Congress and the administration, without the deficit crunch, might be more prudent in dealing with spending measures if they knew the spending would trigger unpopular tax increases.

Pressure for the movement is coming from congressmen feeling the heat of the taxpayers' revolt.

Ending deficit spending at the federal level would have a dampening effect on inflation and soothe the citizenry, many believe.

McClell said 58 joint resolutions on a balanced budget have been introduced and 143 congressmen have written Rodino asking for hearings.

As of mid-July, 137 House members had signed on as sponsors or co-sponsors of such amendments. Illinoisans on that list of sponsors include Carbondale Democrat Paul Simon and Republican Reps. McClell, Tom Corcoran of Ottawa, Ed Derwinski of Bloomington, Paul Findley of Pittsfield, Philip Crane of Mount Prospect and George O'Brien of Joliet.

Gilbert named to state civil service panel

Governor James R. Thompson announced two appointments Thursday:

John L. Gilbert, Godfrey, an attorney with the law firm of Reed, Armstrong, Gorman and Coffey, Edwardsville, as a member of the Civil Service Commission.

Requiring Senate confirmation, the appointment is effective Aug. 9 and the term expires in March 1979. Gilbert replaces Leonard W. Ross, Rock Island, who resigned. Commission members receive $8,000 yearly.

Robert H. Goldman, Springfield, president of Central Office Equipment Co., Springfield, as a member of the Illinois Recreation Council. Senate confirmation is not required. The appointment is effective July 25 for a term ending in July 1979, and Goldman replaces Paul T. Lively, Evanston. The position is unsalaried.

Sunday hours will start Sept. 10 at GC branch library

Library service on Sundays will soon be offered to Granite City through the Granite City Public Library's Branch, located at 6 Nameoki Village Shopping Center.

This will be the first time library service has been offered on Sunday in Granite City.

Speaking of the Sunday hours, Library Director Robert J. Stack said, "We are pleased to offer this service to the people of Granite City, and we feel it demonstrates an attempt to respond to the changing needs of our clientele."

The Library Board has authorized Sept. 10 as the first Sunday the branch library will be open. The hours will be from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Although the board anticipates Sunday hours to be successful, the first several months of Sunday hours will be considered an experiment to help the library administration determine if there is a genuine call for Sunday library hours. After the trial period, the board will decide whether a permanent Sunday hour schedule should be established.

Both Granite coaches predict tight soccer race

GENE BAKER

By PETE HAYES
Press-Record Sports Editor
GRANITE CITY — The weather is hot and humid now. The air is thick and oppressive at times; it perspires for you. But beginning Wednesday, two Granite City high schools will begin preparing for a fall sport which will see its finale in late November on the artificial turf at Hancock Stadium on the campus of Illinois State University in Normal.

The sport: Soccer. The high schools: Granite City North, one of the top high schools for soccer in the state the past four years, and Granite City South.

South. The defending state champions. Rulers of the Illinois state tournament the last two seasons in a row. The team which boasted the top scorer in the state a year ago and ran away with the top prize in the state at Huskie Stadium at Northern Illinois University.

But that was last season. Gone are the familiar names of Goldschmidt, Theis, Feigl and Phelps. No more will South fans be able to see Mark Goldschmidt stealing the ball away and controlling play. No more will they see Greg Feigl lurking ominously near the opponents' goals ready at any time to head the ball into the net or kick it beneath a falling goalie.

South lost a lot. North didn't lose quite as much to graduation. The result could be as close a soccer race in this, the soccer capital of Illinois, has ever seen.

Both teams' coaches feel that way.

North's Bob Kehoe lost a few starters off his 1977-78 squad, but he feels his young team's depth of a year ago will show itself in even more light this fall. "I'm very optimistic about this season," said Kehoe. "Of course, we won't really know how we're going to be until after practice starts, but based on last year's accomplishments, we should have as good a shot as anybody."

Missing from this year's North roster will be Eric Thornburg, who has gone to Cornell University. Also gone will be Jim Goodyear and Roger Mauser.

However, North was basically a young team last season and returns more than it lost. "We should have a pretty strong halfback line with Bob Bates, John Keefe and Glenn Edwards," said Kehoe. "Keefe and Edwards are track men and can run all day long since they're in such good shape. Bates plays baseball all summer and is in excellent shape."

Other players Kehoe is looking for good things from this season are seniors Jeff Demott, Tom Verdupe along with junior goalie Toliver and the Music Room.

Goalie may be the toughest position for both North and South to fill. All-state goalkeeper Mike Hill is gone from the North roster and Barry Briggs is missing from the South lineup.

The likely (at this point) successors to Hill and Briggs are Pierson at North and Alex Paz at South. However, they will get strong competition from a couple of hopefuls, Randy Sigity from North and Andy Costello at South.

South's Baker said the biggest competition in the pre-season practices is for the goalie position. "The biggest thing we judge them on is effort," he said. "Early in the season that's the most important thing. Along with consistency and their diving and how they demonstrate good goalie talents."

"We'll work on conditioning the first two or three practices," said Baker. "Even though many of the guys have been playing summer-league soccer, it's still important that everybody be in good condition."

Baker expects great things out of Jack Burnett. But he terms Burnett as a "Big II."

The junior centerback sustained a knee injury after the soccer season last year and was operated on by Dr. Stan London in

SIUE signs top tennis aces

EDWARDSVILLE — Three top-ranked tennis players have signed letters of intent to enroll at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville this coming fall. Coach Ken DeMars, who initiated tennis as a varsity sport at SIUE five years ago, made the announcement.

DeMars' Cougar tennis team won the NCAA division II national championship at San Diego, Calif., in June.

Two of the trio of stars signed are freshmen: Ray Kuzava, 19, from Neptune, N.J., and Raimo Ojala, 19, of Finland; the other is Farraukh Siddiqi, 21, a junior from Pakistan who starred the past two years at Central Texas Junior College.

This week, DeMars is attending the United States National Junior Championship Tournament at Kalamazoo, Mich. to observe the play of five youngsters who have signified their interest in coming to SIUE.

The three just signed by DeMars have impressive credentials.

Kuzava has been ranked No. 1 in each of the various age groups since he was 12 years old. His high school record over the past four years was a sensational 46-1, the only loss being to Fritz Buehning now a junior at the University of California at Los Angeles (UCLA). He lost to Bushnig, 6-3, 6-4 in the New Jersey prep championship two years ago in the final match. He was a junior at the time. Buehning was UCLA's No. 2 player this past season. This year Kuzava is playing on the prestigious USTA national junior circuit and this week at Kalamazoo.

Ojala is Finland's No. 1 junior tennis player and has had international experience playing twice ('77 and '78) at Wimbledon and three times at the Orange Bowl New Year's Day tournament. At Miami, Ojala defeated Celso Sacramento, Brazil's No. 1 ranked junior, 6-4, 6-1. This summer the young Finnish star is playing the European junior circuit.

Siddiqi, playing for Central Texas JC, was seeded No. 2 in the national NJCAA tournament. He has beaten players from Trinity College and Texas U.

Siddiqi is the No. 1 ranked junior in Pakistan and is playing the Pacific Northwest Pro circuit as an amateur. He's a stand-out singles player, but is also one of the best doubles performers in the U.S.

Back next year for SIUE is Juan Farrow, who repeated as the NCAA division II singles champion. Arjun Fernando, Bill Ruskic, Scott Whaley, and Alan Miller.

TAKE IT EASY — Not on the football field, of course, but don't overdo it in pre-season conditioning drills, according to a University of Illinois physician. The above photo was taken at last season's North-South football game. (Press-Record Photo)

Mercer sweeps Mitchell to move to Inter-City championships

GRANITE CITY — Mercers of Granite City came up with a doubleheader sweep yesterday at Wilson Park to claim its best two-out-of-three Inter-City League playoff series from cross-town rival Mitchell in two straight games.

Mercers won by scores of 5-0 and 4-1. In the other semifinal round action, Highland-Pierson and the Music Room Vans split their first two games and will play a third game next weekend to see which team will face Mercers in the championship series.

IN THE FIRST GAME, Mercers' Todd Brock went all the way on the mound and picked up the victory. He struck out six Mitchell batters in the process.

Mercers came up with four runs in the second inning and added another in the fifth to walk away with the victory.

John Henke went the distance on the mound for Mitchell and sustained the loss. In the second inning for Mercers, Brandon Warfield doubled leading off. Ken Schaake then walked, followed by a single by designated hitter Jerry Deml which scored Warfield.

That blow was followed by Jack Scarborough's double which sent Schaake across the plate. John Urban, the Mercers third baseman, left a sacrifice fly ball which allowed Deml to tag up at third and score.

Bob Hughes' fielder's choice sent Scarborough across the plate with the final Mercer run of the inning.

In the fifth inning, Ken Schaake singled for Mercers leading off the inning. Deml also singled and Scarborough walked, leading the bases. Dave Schaake hit into a fielder's choice which allowed Ken Schaake to score from third base.

Jack Scarborough was three-for-three at the plate, Ken Schaake was two-for-two and Deml was two-for-two in the first game victory for Mercers.

In the second game, Mercers scored single tallies in the first, second, third and sixth innings, compared to Mitchell's lone run of the day scored in the fifth inning to grab the victory and the playoff series.

Sam Pastirich started for Mercers on the mound. He was relieved by Kirk Champion in the fourth. Deml came in to pitch in the sixth and Stan Osterber finished things up for Mercers in the seventh inning.

In the first inning of the second game, Jack Scarborough led off with a single, stole second base, went to third on a wild pitch by Mitchell starter Ken Crawford and scored on a sacrifice by Urban.

In the second inning, Dave Schaake singled, Jeff Scarborough did likewise, and Warfield moved them over to third and second with a ground out.

A single by Jack Scarborough drove in Schaake.

A lead-off triple by Urban in the third followed by a single by Bob Hughes accounted for the Mercer run in that frame.

Mitchell came back with a run of its own in the fifth inning when Jim Cronin, Bill Stote and Tom Carroll each singled to score Cronin.

But Mercers got that run back in the sixth inning when Dave Schaake, Jeff Scarborough and John Lakin each singled to score Schaake.

In the first game, Mercers had five runs, 10 hits and no errors, compared to Mitchell's no runs on two hits and two errors.

In the second contest, Mercers came up with four runs on eight hits and no errors, compared to Mitchell's one run on seven hits and two errors.

Mercers' championship series opponent, however, won't be known until after next Sunday. The reason being that Highland-Pierson and the Music Room Vans split their opening-round doubleheader at East Alton yesterday.

Music Room won the first game 10-2 and Highland-Pierson came back to claim the nightcap 6-5.

Stan Hawkins got the win on the mound for Music Room in the first game. He allowed only four Highland-Pierson hits, while his teammates were pounding out 12 runs. Doug Gramaud took the loss in a starting role for Highland-Pierson.

Highland-Pierson came back in the second game to claim the victory for starting pitcher Jeff Lawless, who came in to pitch in the fifth inning. Steve Galbitis was the starting pitcher, but yielded four runs to Music in the third inning and was lifted in favor of J. R. Potthast, who pitched until the fifth.

The third game in the best-of-three series between Highland-Pierson and Music Room will be next Sunday, Aug. 20 at Pierson beginning at 2 p.m. It will be a nine-inning game.

Local juniors win Heine Meine

ST. LOUIS — The Mercers Junior baseball team of 15 and 16 year old boys won the prestigious Heine Meine Baseball Tournament here Saturday with a 6-2 victory over the Southwest Kiwanis Pros "on St. Louis in the championship game.

The Mercers' squad ended its 1978 season which saw it claim two invitational tournaments and place second in a national tournament earlier this month in Louisville, Ky.

The Mercers' squad defeated the defending champions in two games. The Pros (the Pros) had won the championship of the Heine Meine Tournament the past five years in a row and seven out of the last 10 years.

Mercers earned its trip to the championship game with a 2-1 hard-earned victory over Thyremo of St. Louis.

Despite being out-hit by Thyremo, Mercers scrapped its way to the victory. In Friday's semifinal game against Thyremo, Mercers scored runs in the third and fourth innings, and that was enough to garner the victory. Both runs were scored on sacrifice flies.

Bob Ford went all the way on the mound for Mercers and picked up the victory. He struck out eight batters in scattering the four hits.

In Saturday's championship game, Mercers spotted the Southwest Pros a 2-0 lead after the first two and a half innings, but came back with six tallies of its own in the third inning to grab the lead.

Mercer's ace Steve Doty went all the way on the mound in picking up his second win in the tournament. He allowed only four hits and struck out 11 Southwest batters.

Mercers pounded out five base hits, two of them by pitcher Doty.

In that six-run third inning, an incident occurred which caused Mercers manager Jake Hinterser to do a little juggling around with the lineup.

On a double by Doty, two runs had scored. But when catcher Scott Polson, who had been on first base, tried to make it three, he was thrown out at the plate. The ball arrived at the plate so far ahead of Polson that he didn't slide, instead diving at the Pros' catcher in an attempt to knock the ball loose.

The home plate umpire then enforced a "no-slide" rule which states that if a player deliberately knocks down another with the ball without sliding into the base in attempt to be called safe, he shall be ejected from the game.

Polson was.

Shortstop Bob Bates was moved behind the plate for Mercers and several other clutch hits for us didn't do it as much lately, so we had to scrap for everything we got.

"But if we hadn't been such a good fundamentally-sound baseball team, we would have been out of this thing last week."

"I'll tell you," said Hinterser. "We had to do everything we could just to score some runs in the tournament."

"The guys usually come through with the clutch hits for us didn't do it as much lately, so we had to scrap for everything we got."

"But if we hadn't been such a good fundamentally-sound baseball team, we would have been out of this thing last week."

'Take it easy' says Doctor

CHICAGO — "Expecting too much, too soon is the biggest mistake some high school football coaches make in starting summer workout sessions," according to Robert C. Hamilton, M.D., clinical assistant professor of orthopedic surgery at the University of Illinois at Chicago.

As medical consultant to the Illinois State High School Association, Dr. Hamilton has noticed that some coaches employ methods that do far more harm than good.

"CONDITIONING is a key aspect of a successful season," he said. "But some coaches think players will be ready for full practice after a few days of conditioning."

He points out that many coaches neglect a good warm-up drill. Such a drill emphasizing flexibility is essential in preventing or at least minimizing the damage of sprains, strains and other injuries.

"Good conditioning will also bring players to their peak quicker," Dr. Hamilton said.

Plenty of water should be available during conditioning and double practice sessions during the extreme heat of the late summer.

"COACHES should have long ago eliminated the so-called 'water discipline,' that is withholding water from a player during practice as a method of maintaining discipline," Dr. Hamilton said. "Such a practice could lead to heat cramps, heat exhaustion and heat stroke, which can be potentially fatal."

Although commercial salt retaining liquids, such as "Gatorade" are useful in maintaining adequate body fluid levels, Dr. Hamilton says they are not necessary if players consume adequate salt in their diets.

"Salt tablets do not seem to be necessary. They aren't used anymore since they cause too many stomach problems," Dr. Hamilton noted.

In scheduling double sessions, Dr. Hamilton suggests they be held in early morning and late afternoon.

"In the middle of the day the sun is most intense and the heat is at its worst," he said.

Pre and post-game weigh-ins are also important in monitoring a player's water loss during the grueling summer workouts.

"ON THE AVERAGE," Dr. Hamilton noted, "if a player loses more than five pounds per session, he should be watched carefully."

To help prevent injuries, strict attention should be given to proper fitting of equipment, according to Dr. Hamilton.

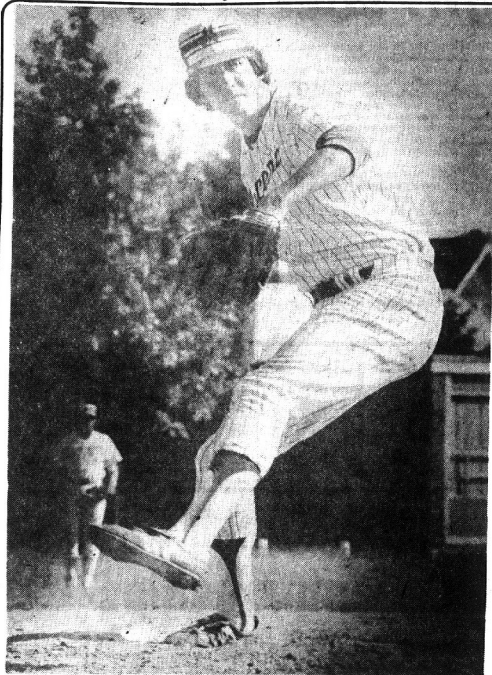

However, routine taping of the ankles and knees is not necessary unless a player suffered a previous injury," he said. "Even then, taping of the knee is not necessary unless the individual situation calls for it."

For a player who has been injured, Dr. Hamilton suggests specific exercise routines to strengthen the area involved.

"PLAYERS who have suffered a knee injury should pay special attention to strengthening the quadriceps (the four muscles surrounding the knee) and the hamstrings," Dr. Hamilton said.

Once the season begins, conditioning should still be maintained, Dr. Hamilton warns.

"Coaches make a big mistake if they think practice will take the place of conditioning exercises," he said.

Two down, two to go

GRANITE CITY — The Mercer's team of the Illinois Inter-City baseball league yesterday took two big steps toward claiming the 1978 league championship when it beat cross-town rival Mitchell twice in their best two-out-of-three semifinal series.

Mercer's will face the winner of the Highland Pierron - Music Room series which is tied at one game apiece. Those two teams will play Sunday, Aug. 20 for the right to face Mercers.

I Bet You Didn't Know BROUGHT TO YOU BY... MILTON MATHEWS

See if you can name this unusual father-son combination in sports... A former big league baseball manager had a son who became a head coach in the National Football League... Who are they?... The father is Doc Prothro who was manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, in 1939-40-41... His son is Tommy Prothro, who is now the head coach of the San Diego Chargers of the NATIONAL Football League.

Did you know that a big league baseball team that was in LAST place as late as July 19 one year still won the pennant that year?... It happened to the "Miracle Braves" of 1914... They were last in the National League on July 19, but they won 59 of their last 75 games and finished first... So, it can be done... A team last in July can still wind up first in October.

Here's a trick question for you... Name the catcher in baseball history who've won the batting championship in the American League... The answer is none... No catcher has ever led the American League in batting at the end of any season.

Soccer Cougars expect to soar

By AL BARNES

EDWARDSVILLE — Last year, the battle cry was: "Florida (Fl. Lauderdale), California, here we come."

This year, the war cry of most American collegiate soccer coaches of the big, prestigious NCAA Division I schools is "again qualifying for the 1979 NCAA tour-namment held at the University of California, Berkeley. Coach Bob Guelker of the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Cougars feels very strongly that his young men have an excellent chance of "again qualifying for the NCAA national semifinals down in Florida early next December."

Guelker has dubbed that '77 team his "Cinderella Club." The usually very cautious (about predictions, that is) Guelker said: "My young squad, with the experience it gained last year in real tough competition, should provide the fans with much exciting, entertaining and high grade soccer that should gain for the Cougars a shot at, the very least, another berth in the semis."

Here's how he reasons: "I have 12 returning of my 16-man contingent that saw a great deal of (pressure) action last year. Heading the list is a trio of seniors who will serve us as tri-captains. They are veteran keeper Bob Robson, a three-year starter in the nets; Mike Kelley, centerback; and forward (winger) Brian Higgins. All three were starters last year."

A big hunk of Guelker's optimism, of course, comes because returning for their second year as Cougar kickers are his "Super Six" freshmen of '77: Don Ebert, Matt Malloy and Tim Guelker as strikers; Bob Bozada, midfielder; Tim Clark, fullback; and Terry Truitt, centerback. What about the "sophomore jinx?" Guelker was asked.

Said Guelker: "I'm not worried about the sophomore jinx; I'm more concerned about the possibility of injuries to one or more of them."

Additionally, SIUE has a strong group of juniors returning—young men who played a great deal as sophomores: Dave Hundelt, a starter and star at right fullback; Dave Hummert, a starting midfielder who also doubles as a striker; and pesky Jeff Cacciatore, a fleet and persistent winger. Guelker says the big question is: how will the 1978 edition of the Cougars respond to the loss of their three-time, first-team All-American, Greg (Face) Makowski? Makowski was pro soccer's first choice in the college draft. He was given the nod by the Colorado Caribous and is just completing a very outstanding first-year as a pro.

Guelker is expecting a great deal of action early in from two incoming freshmen: George Mishalov from Chicago and Pay Malloy, a star at Hazelwood Central of St. Louis. Mishalov, a younger brother of former SIUE defensive star, Gene Mishalov, will play at midfield and at centerback. Malloy will be a backfield defender and is a brother of Matt.

A quietest of the nation's collegiate soccer powers will be appearing on the SIUE schedule for the first time: Southern Methodist U.; North Texas State U.; Hartwick College, winner of the NCAA Division I crown last year at Berkeley; Bowling Green University of Mexico here in a 1:30 p.m. contest.

Barrington breezes

HIGHLAND — Barrington easily breezed by Decatur 19-8 here yesterday to the 1978 Illinois American Legion base championship.

Decatur came into the championship game out of the lower bracket by defeating Rock Island 5-0 and Marissa, the District 22 hope, 15-13 Saturday.

Barrington fell to Barrington in the first game of the tournament last Thursday.

Decatur took an early lead at

Improve service return by bouncing

Have you ever wondered how you'd handle Roscoe Tanner's serve — if you had to?

Besides standing behind the fence and hoping he double faults, there are ways of winning a point from a big (but not too big) serve.

First, position yourself properly on the court. Take a step or two or three back from the baseline and stand on a line that is equidistant between the widest two possible serves he could hit. (In singles, this is normally near the singles side line.)

As he drops his hands down to begin his service motion, take a step forward, and as he contacts the ball, bounce lightly on your toes. Being in motion as the ball is hit will help you react faster.

Watch the ball twice. See only it as he tosses it up. Then focus your eyes again after it bounces. Realizing that the ball loses much of its speed after the bounce (or at least you hope it does).

Turn your shoulders, and if you have time, step into the shot. (You should.)

Tilt the racket face back and block the ball. Take little or no backswing. The speed of the shot will be borrowed from the server. (Make sure you keep your eyes wide open, and relax your muscles during the hit.)

If all goes well, and the ball finds its way to the center of your racket, you should be able to make a solid, effortless return.

If the ball doesn't find its way to the center of your racket, say, "Nice serve!" And get ready to try it again.

Be subtle — don't 'spook' the fish

There's more to casting than distance and accuracy.

Knowing where to place the cast is just as important and can make a significant difference in fishing success.

Consider, for example, the traditional stump under which a big bass makes its home. Most anglers cast directly to the stump.

They don't realize that a fish is usually there waiting for something to eat, but when a lure comes crashing down nearby, the fish spooks and leaves.

A better casting method is one recommended by outdoors fishing experts, who suggest you cast beyond the stump and retrieve the lure past the fish in a natural manner.

This same type of reasoning should apply to all the casts you make.

The trick is to decide where the fish is lying and then to present the bait or lure so that it appears normal.

Around lily pads and weed beds, work the fringe areas rather than cast directly into the plants.

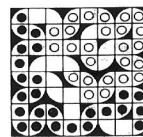

Bass, pike and other species use aquatic weeds as hiding places.

Cast beyond the fish, retrieve parallel to the weeds, and your success will improve.

This same technique works for sunken trees, along dikes, or anywhere there's an expanse of fish cover.

When you suspect a fish is lying tight to the bank, cast the lure offshore and gently work it back to the water.

This is effective with top-water plugs, flyrod popping bugs, and imitation insects.

July traffic deaths up

Three persons died in Quad-City area traffic accidents during July, the largest number of fatalities in any single month so far this year, according to statistics compiled by the Press-Record.

While the total of three traffic deaths was the same number as occurred in the same month a year ago, it was two over the one fatality reported in June this year, and one above the two traffic fatalities occurring in February and two in March.

Although the number of traffic deaths increased last month, the number of accidents which involved personal injuries declined, as did the number of persons injured in those accidents.

Traffic statistics show a total of 38 accidents occurred in the Quad-City area during July in which 59 persons were injured. This compared with 54 injury accidents and 75 persons injured in July a year ago.

During the previous month of June this year, there were 36 injury accidents in which 76 persons were injured.

July accidents brought to 10 the total number of fatalities during the first seven months of the year, a decrease of 6, or 37.5 percent, below the 16 traffic deaths occurring during the same period in 1977.

At the same time, the number of injury accidents and the number of persons injured in these accidents during the seven-month period this year were less than those occurring a year ago.

A total of 376 accidents involving injuries were reported during the first seven months this year, with 521 persons injured. For the same period a year ago, 381 injury accidents had been reported, involving injuries to 571 persons.

Miss Carol A. Noeth, a daughter of Mrs. Helen E. Noeth, 3321 Wabash Ave., and the late Theodore J. Noeth, became the bride of Barry A. Moore, on July 22, at St. Elizabeth's Roman Catholic Church.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Moore, 264 Beaton St., Lowell, Mass.

Father Kenneth Becker performed the double ring ceremony at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Pyramid style bouquets of carnations and greenery adorned the altar.

Soloist Mrs. Marie Noeth was accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Mary Jane Kozielek. Musical selections included "Hawaiian Wedding Song," "You Light Up My Life," "Ave Maria," "Our Father," "We've Only Just Begun," "Let All the World Rejoice," and "The Wedding Song."

Escorted down the white carpeted aisle and given in marriage by her brother, Lawrence Noeth, the bride selected a white floor length organza gown fashioned with a fitted bodice and Queen Anne neckline, traced with lace appliques. Lace motifs were applied on the slender sheer sleeves, and marked the flare cuffs.

Her A-line skirt and chapel train was edged in matching lace trim. She wore a modest length mantilla veil, bordered with two rows of lace and she held a colorful bouquet of white and pink roses, encircled with ivy and baby's breath.

Miss Alice A. Koenig was maid of honor and Miss Carole Locke served as bridesmaid. They were attired in identical fuchsia gowns designed with round necklines enhanced with self fabric bows which also marked the waistlines.

New internal data system at Bi-State

Efficiency and accountability in handling public funds are goals in the design and implementation of a computerized accounting and internal information system announced by Barry M. Locke, executive director of the Bi-State Development Agency.

The accounting system is to be designed and installed by Haskins & Sells and Harvey & Associates, two international certified public accounting firms. It will allow Bi-State Development Agency.

The accounting system is to be designed and installed by Haskins & Sells and Harvey & Associates, two international certified public accounting firms. It will allow Bi-State an improved internal management system as well as permit the agency to exceed the Urban Mass Transportation Administration's external financial reporting requirements.

A completion date of March 1979 has been set for starting the computerized accounting portion of the project.

The firms' bid of $823,814, of which 80 percent is funded by the UMTA, calls for design of a consolidated data base for payroll and personnel files, cost accounting systems, bus run cutting and scheduling, cash management, marketing, and claims and insurance.

The system will also allow Bi-State personnel located at various operating stations to tap into the central computer for data.

Haskins & Sells will also train agency personnel to operate the systems for one year after they are installed.

The firms will develop a proposal documenting the computer hardware Bi-State will need to supplement the systems, and this portion of the project will be completed by July 1979.

David R. Hunt, 710 State St., Madison, reported to Granite City police at 2:55 a.m. Friday, someone stole a .22 caliber snub nose revolver in a black leather shoulder holster from where he had hidden the weapon near a tree.

Hunt was visiting a friend in the Kirkpatrick Homes and heard of a shooting having occurred earlier at a nearby tavern.

He hid the gun in case police should stop him, find the weapon and believe he had something to do with the previous incident, he related.

When Hunt went to retrieve the six-shot revolver, it had disappeared from the hiding place, he told police.

Acting Chief

was going to go on; none of this prostitution, etc. the hours was all explained to him.

"I was beautiful, he understood it. When I learned of it I had Deputy Glen Neumann and Sergeant Burns run a surveillance on it because I knew that Walter Young was still in the area, he was still using — he was using this guy as a front man.

"Positively, I know how those — I know how his mother ran the place, so consequently, I knew how he would run it. And sure enough, we got them. By just keeping going back we ran a surveillance for a couple of weeks and then we sent a couple of guys in.

"In fact, one of our poor deputies involved in Lewis and Clark thing was one of our men that was in there the night it was busted as working for you, you know, as a team; there were two teams.

"Burns and Neumann, who was made prostitution buy, and these other two guys that were attempting to make it. So that was with Maddalino.

"I want to add this, too. That about a month or six weeks ago I got a call at my home. I was in the bathtub and my wife said somebody wants to talk to you.

"I said, well, tell them I'm in the tub, you know, call me back later or call me at the office. And she said okay.

"So about 20 minutes later I got a call. And the guy said, John, I said, yeah, he says Walter.

"I said Walter, said Walter who? You know, I know several Walters.

"So, he said Walter from Collinsville Road. I said Walter Young? He said yeah.

"He said I want to talk to you. I said fine, what do you want to tell me.

"He said, no I don't want to talk to you on the phone, he said I want to talk. I'll tell you what, this was after the Maddalino Paddock bust. I said, well, fine.

"Come up to the office. He said, no, I don't want to talk to you at the office. I said, well, who's your lawyer, because I assumed that whoever his lawyer was was Bill Brandt, who was representing Maddalino.

"I said I'll — if you want I'll meet you at Brandt's office. He said, no I don't want to meet you around that so and so. He says he's representing Maddalino.

"He said, but I got some people down on me pretty heavy, man, and I need some help. I said, well, why are you calling me? I don't have anything to do with that.

"He said, well, man, somebody better help me.

"I said, well let me tell you this much, if you want to talk, you come up to the Sheriff's Department.

"Because there is no way I'm going to talk to this guy in private or, you know, without somebody being around to back me up.

"I don't know what he had in mind. He said — I do know what he had in mind, but I mean I don't meet you who he really wanted.

"He said I'll meet you out on an open field or anywhere. He said, Walter, I'll meet you at your lawyer's office or the sheriff's office.

"I said right now I'm busy involved in this, I think it was the sheriff's cocktail party or else his dinner one — I said whenever that's done, I said, maybe — sometime next week we can get together.

"He never ever called me back so I just dropped it. But I thought I ought to mention that for whatever it's worth.

"I would take that that meant something by that, you know, somebody better talk to me, you know.

"I took it as somewhat of a threat. So, but I didn't think about it either.

"I've been threatened by a lot of people before, I don't necessarily like it but...

Q. "What kind of a threat?"

A. "Just a threat. That maybe they going to do me in if I don't help them because I know that they felt that I was in a position to help them.

"Because — you see, I run the checks on all the places that liquor licenses are issued to. And I'm sure that they are aware that by being the liaison officer between the state attorney and those that I could possibly, maybe put something in favorable for them.

"I don't know, maybe he's aware of the deal that was made at the Okay Cafe and maybe he wanted to see if he could work with me.

"But I thought, no, I wouldn't do it without anybody being present, you know. So then I could take it several ways, I just didn't know.

"When you deal with those kind of people, well you got to be cautious.

"So I don't — I wouldn't meet any of them anywhere other than having someone with me.

Q. "Getting back to the subject of our investigation here of Ron Grzywacz. Now your association with him then was for a brief period of time? Now you've known him for long time, but not very well except for this brief, approximately..."

A. "Yeah."

MR. WEHRHEIM: "Three-month period."

A. "Yeah, yeah, three months would be a fair figure. Then maybe going — like I said, the one time over in St. Louis which would have been — I think after that like maybe a couple of months, but..."

"Met them over at St. Louis at some shopping center, I don't know, some bar. But it's one of those deals where the guys say, well, what are you doing Friday night or Saturday when you're off. I said, well, not really nothing, you know.

"That was the only time that I had gone anywhere — no one other time. I think I did go with Grzywacz, Goclar, I think there were about four guys. And Elaine Prince was along and several girls from Tony and Joe's.

"So there might have been — I would say more than a half dozen times would I have socialized with Grzywacz other than during that brief three-month period."

Q. "Your only connection in Grzywacz on this particular case — I mean, the people: Young, Jackie, Myrene, Stewart, Al Cliffo, would have been in the connection with this investigation?"

A. "With this investigation, right."

Q. "Have you ever or you or Grzywacz or both of you, have ever solicited any payoffs from any of these people?"

A. "No. When you say you or Grzywacz, I can only speak for myself."

MR. WEHRHEIM: "When you were together?"

A. "When we were together, right. Grzywacz."

Q. "You, yourself, have never done that?"

A. "No. And Grzywacz has never done it in my presence."

Q. "Did you ever have any information that he may have done it outside of your presence?"

A. "No, no information. I think that there were some inferences from time to time. I think that probably this may have been his fault, I think, from his own fellow officers."

Q. "What do you mean?"

A. "Well they were aware that he was doing something for Maeras, but they just simply didn't know what."

Q. "Oh, — so they assumed the worst?"

A. "Well I think — I think that, you know, Grzywacz — poor devil. I think that a lot of times he may — he may say the wrong thing."

"And I think that rather tell them what he was doing he, you know, led them to believe — he may have led them to believe other things."

"But I know that — in here in the City of Madison this was a long-standing practice, prostitution. That's where it all stems from, when it went from Madison to Collinsville Road.

"So most of the police officers in Madison are pretty well aware of them."

"In fact, there's prostitution going on in Madison now, we believe, and one of our men is working on the thing. It's Glen Neumann, he's working on it for the mayor of Madison."

"We believe that there's prostitution going in a tavern in Madison."

Q. "Just one?"

A. "Yeah, one. The Massage Parlor, they don't know, you know. It's kind of a — certain amount of."

Q. "What tavern?"

A. "I think it's Buzz's. I don't know what name — I'm not sure of the name exactly. I'm sure it's Buzz's Tavern."

MR. WEHRHEIM: "There's a Buzz's Tavern?"

A. "Well, then that's the one it is. It's directly across the street from the Starlight Tavern on the 1200 block of Madison."

"We're presently — we have a man working with Mike Sasyk's investigator Paul Bartel, one of our men. They don't know him, so consequently we feel we can do our best there."

Q. "How about — what is the jurisdiction of the sheriff as far as these metropolitan areas of cities in Madison County?"

A. "Well, we have the right to go in any city, but we don't generally do it without the police department's knowledge."

"We inform them what's going on when we know it, and we go in if they need our assistance."

Q. "What if you inform them and they don't do anything about it?"

A. "Well, I think that the sheriff well — I can't answer for the sheriff, I won't answer for the sheriff."

"I would only answer for myself. I would say that if — nothing was done, I think, we would then make it known to the state's attorney, or at least I would."

Q. "Now these places, you named them, are the only places in Madison County that you were aware of at this time that had prostitution going on? Or you had information that prostitution was going on?"

A. "Well, well I had information there was prostitution going on in Alton."

"I don't recall now, but I know now — back several years. But are several places at Alton, I think we presently got something going on at the Airport Barn. Nothing in Granite City, nothing in Wood River that I knew of. I think that's basically it."

Q. "How about Cottage Hills area?"

A. "That, I don't think so, I don't think Cottage Hills area is kind of a depressed area and generally you don't get into prostitution — well I shouldn't say that. "Collinsville Road is a fairly depressed area. But I would say Cottage Hills, I wouldn't think so. But..."

Q. "Is Cottage Hills an incorporated area or is it that under your..."

A. "It's unincorporated, it's under us. Yeah, yeah I'm sure that there would be hit-and-miss prostitution."

"But nothing on a large scale like the Club J or Myrene's or Al Cliffo, nothing as big as that, I think..."

Q. "They don't have a race track nearby, either?"

A. "No, right. And this is — and incidentally we just had to get the race track. I mean they had to give those people their licenses back and it's just in time for race track."

Q. "Who's this Maddalino?"

A. "Maddalino, yeah, the guy that wanted a nice tavern so he could give his kids a lot of something, you know, that's what he told the chairman on the Liquor Board."

"But those would be the only places testing my memory. I'm sure there might be some here or there, you know, that are really insignificant, but not as big as these places."

Q. "Have you ever had any financial transactions with Ron Grzywacz?"

A. "No. You mean as him loaning me any money or..."

MR. WEHRHEIM: "Loaning you anything, you buying anything from him, or selling him anything?"

A. "I do not believe I ever bought anything from Grzywacz, well I'm sure of it, I'm sure of it."

Q. "And you never sold anything?"

A. "Testing my memory, no, I, I, I, I beg your pardon."

MR. WEHRHEIM: "Loans between either..."

A. "No, no, I would have never sold Grzywacz anything because — things I generally have I don't sell, you know. He would have never bought anything from me."

"I had a motorcycle I sold recently, but it wouldn't have been him, it was to my neighbor. But, no, nothing to Grzywacz."

"I wouldn't have sold Grzywacz anything. I don't think I would have ever borrowed any money from him."

"When I go out anywhere I don't, I don't spend that kind of money first of all, you know when I go out, that I would go that big."

"And he certainly wouldn't have borrowed any money from me because I wouldn't have been in a position to give him any money in — well maybe — I'm just guessing again. Something like a $10 bill, or $20 bill, it's possible."

MR. QUAYLE: "How did you find Myrene's Steak House?"

A. "How did we find it? I'm not — I don't follow the question."

MR. QUAYLE: "Well, the location is off the track, off the beaten path."

A. "I've been 11 years with the sheriff's office and I have been on at least three successful raids. I even staked it out, with the chief deputy and another deputy by the name of Otto Swagall."

"I believe that would have been the first time that we hit Myrene's and that probably would of — as under Sheriff Fraundorfer — and that probably would have been about 1964."

MR. QUAYLE: "What location is it?"

A. "It's in what they call Oakwood. I don't know the name of the street, it might even be Oakwood."

"I know that you run down the street along the cemetery in Alton — you go along the golf course and you turn right when you go to the area where the street goes up, the right on top of the hill. So that..."

Q. "That's the place you conducted the raid?"

A. "Yeah, that's one of the places."

Q. "Is that her personal residence?"

A. "I think it is, I think they live — I'm sure they live there because when we were there she showed us into her bedroom which — seemed like it's — well at least half of the house."

"We walked into the back and instead of going downstairs you go straight on back."

"There's a door there and then they had a big bedroom in there. Two rooms upstairs, basement."

Q. "And you describe the place as being on a hill rather than on flat ground?"

A. "Yeah, it's on a hill like this. It's up on top. If you go too far one way or the other you're going downhill."

"You couldn't really do a very good surveillance from any place except right across the street, and this is where we did our surveillance. We pulled — there's a driveway and it's real busy."

"We pulled right up in there and it didn't — I don't think it went anywhere, but we — there I don't know how many nights."

"So her place is pretty well concealed. You have to knock on the door. There's no way you can gain entry there unless you identify yourself or she knows you're a customer."

"Absolutely no way. It's one of the most difficult places to hold a surveillance on."

MR. WEHRHEIM: "Did — then you and Grzywacz were together. I assumed you had some sort of conversation other than just business. Did he ever mention to you about any of his personal assets or holdings or any such as..."

A. "No he never — he — well he's a funny guy. He never talked much about anything, although, I can see that he had a nice home, he had a swimming pool."

"I think the guy next door, if I'm not mistaken, might be, well he's one of the police commissioners, Ed Ray Dubish."

"I think Ed may help him, from time to time. I think that when they built a fence around both the houses, I think Ed put up the money if I'm not mistaken."

"I, well, you know — I wouldn't want to say for certain and I think he paid him back, you know, whatever the money amounted to. I don't really know, he never discussed too many of his business things with me."

"I simply didn't know Ron Grzywacz. I only knew him as seeing him as a policeman, you know, here and there."

"I would see him at Madison police — but I have never been out with him socially until after that investigation thing started."

Q. "Now, your investigation then was fairly well limited to certain, relatively few places of prostitution in Madison County?"

A. "I personally not aware of all places there might be. How about with regard to, say, towing fees paying back the various deputies. Did you get into that area at all?"

A. "I think so, I think this is how it initially started. I think that the — one of the deputies came to me, a deputy by the name of Herb Horton — came to me and said there's something funny going on."

"And I said what's that, and he said, well I want to talk to you about it a little later on."

"He's one of our day process men. And I said well all right, so we went out and we had coffee."

"He says, I think that there is a guy running around telling don't pay off the deputies, and if you are going to pay off anybody, you are going to pay off me."

"I said OK. Who did they go to, just tell me who they went to."

"And he told me, I believe it was a Shell Station in Wood River, Tricky's, if I can remember correctly."

"So this is when I first went in and told Captain Nicholas, and he went in and talked to the sheriff."

"The sheriff called me in, said, OK, you go and you check the thing out. I said all right, I will. So I did it."

"I went with Herb Horton the deputy that brought it up. He introduced me to the guy. In fact I made a recording."

"Maybe I shouldn't have. Put the briefcase. I had, I had a briefcase recorder, I had it in the back seat, and I made a recording of our conversation, which since has mysteriously gone, too."

"But I remember the conversation very well."

"He said that two guys came there and identified themselves as being friends of the sheriff, and if they were going to pay anybody off we wanted them to pay them."

Q. "Who were they?"

A. "Well I was told that one guy was the sheriff's brother-in-law, Pete Skundrich, I — I shouldn't say that. No, they didn't know who it was."

"I later learned from somebody that it probably was Pete Skundrich and Grzywacz."

"And Skundrich and Grzywacz were supposed to be the investigation that I subsequently did."

"So I told Dennis about it; I went and talked to the guy at Tricky's; Dennis had me come in with the sheriff. "Told the sheriff exactly what I had found and the sheriff said well, your job, find out who's doing it, then I want to know about it."

"So I checked it out; I went by and talked to Grzywacz. I said let me ask you something; have you been around talking to anybody?"

"He said, 'Yeah, we've talked to several people, I said, you ask them for payoffs?' He said no."

"I said are you certain. He said yes; he said, 'I'll tell something, Pete gets pretty loaded when he drinks and Pete —' "I think what he said was that Pete said — well you guys aren't paying off anybody around here more except the sheriff; he said, if anybody gets paid off it's the sheriff."

"So I went back and reported that to Derris; he said well OK. You work together with Grzywacz, see what you can come up with, we're run the intelligence on him."

"The sheriff, I told him about it. He said well — he just shook his head — he said well you know my brother-in-law is goofy, he drinks."

"And that's where I dropped it. But the guy that ran Tricky's did say to me that two guys — he didn't know who they were."

"I don't know whether Grzywacz ever admitted that to me or not. But he did say that he had been around talking to people."

Q. "What other towing funds, other than Tricky's About Mick Fincher?"

A. "I'm sure that we talked to Mick Fincher. I'm sure, in fact, talked to — I'm sure talked to S. & K. about it."

Q. "I'm sure Brin's Tee Check, Woodshell, 'Woodshell told us — a kid named Ed Stammer which wasn't there at the time but I since talked to him. Ed Stammer, and he supposed to be paying off deputies. Of course."

Q. "Did they say they did?"

A. "Yeah, they all said they did. No I shouldn't say Mick; Mick didn't admit it."

"S. and K. said, no, he wouldn't pay them; Richards, Skelly Station."

"Richards never paid anybody off."

"And I think this was a deputy thing, though, you know, man-to-man contact."

A. "In other words, you give me so much, I'll see that you get the call on the accident?"

A. "Probably something like that. I think — I think that the payoff may have been something like that — $5, $7 bucks per unit. We stopped that."

Q. "OK you mentioned a number of towing firms, now some admitted paying or said they paid off —"

A. "Well, they did admit it like this. For example, I checked with this Ed Stammer. I said, well, what's going on here. In fact, I saw one of the deputy's names, and Sergeant Burns would have been with me at that time."

"It was Sergeant Warfield and he had a bill up there for 70 some dollars."

"He said Warfield, and I look up and said to Ed — I don't know what his last name is — Ed Stammer."

"I said, Ed, let me ask you this. Is that what I think it means? He said what do you mean?"

"I said, well is that guy going to pay that bill here or are you getting towing because you take care of his work."

"And he said, well we work it out. So I told him, it won't go."

"Course, he didn't believe me, but now he doesn't have any more towing."

"He's very upset about it; he's one of the guys I think presently that says well, I admit I was paying off everybody."

"Well, I said, I don't care who you ever paying off, you know. He wanted to talk to me even here recently. I said no."

"Same way with this whip up in Godfrey — he said he was paying off; never paid off."

"Talked to the deputies involved, Ted Russo, Sergeant Russo, he said he never gotten any money."

"The only ones — could have been some of the guys that I'm sure aren't there any longer. Some of the renegades maybe, you know. I'm sure that there's been payoffs."

Q. "How many deputies are in Madison County?"

A. "I think we got about 71. But I'm sure — let me put it this way, I'm sure that under all three administrations there's been payoffs with towing firms with the deputies, but this is a confidential thing between the deputy and the towing firm, you know. They all make their own agreements."

Q. "None to be passed on back to the sheriff himself?"

A. "Not to my knowledge, unless it was a separate arrangement. I wouldn't think so, I don't think that the — I don't even think the sheriff would go for that."

"I have I — and I don't agree on a lot of areas, but I doubt that seriously."

Q. "Grzywacz denied ever receiving any payoffs from Tricky, was it, I think you mentioned? Or was it..."

A. "Yeah, he denied it. He denied it, he said they had talked to different people."

"And testing my memory again, I may not of specifically mentioned Tricky, because at the time, I don't want to say again, they was a lot of problems in our department."

"There was a big power struggle between Nicholas and Rizzi and the sheriff, and I was in the middle."

"And I would have one side telling me one thing and the other side telling me another thing. So I tried to remain neutral on the thing."

Q. "Wed talked briefly on gambling in Madison County in connection with the Steak House, I believe it was. Nig Ford was going to run a game and some prostitution."

A. "Yeah, he wanted a game and a few girls, not many girls. Just, you know a prostitution."

Q. "How about other gambling up there? Has any contact made by you or Grzywacz in connection with your investigation?"

Mr. Wehrheim: "In other words, strictly on the prostitution aspects of..."

A. "Prostitution is what I did with Grzywacz, basically. I — we went to the towing firms to find out; that's right, we went to the towing firms to find out who was — of course Mick Fincher denies it."

"Richard said that he had a lot of guys approach him, but he didn't want to get into it. I think Richard can best confirm that, Richard Long his name."

Q. "Long?"

A. "Long, right. He said, and I had — as a deputy, I had quite a number of cars towed by Richard and I can safely say that he never paid me any money."

"And when Musso got in, Richard was cut out. And he had been cut out for quite a few years until Sheriff Maestas came in."

"Now when Maestas came in, he was still out, he was on the outs with some of the deputies, and until we went to this area towing several months back, why Richard was completely out."

"Now Richard and Mick, I think there are 10 towing firms now that are getting all the business. That's to eliminate any deputy payoffs."

Q. "Is that essentially all the major towing firms in Madison County, 10?"

A. "Yeah, McClanahan from Collinsville. Let's see. I don't know the ones up north too well. Captain Rizzi would better know those. I don't know those ones in the east."

Q. "Highland or that area. I assume there probably wouldn't be very many?"

A. "Well, there's not much, but there is a guy for that area."

Q. "There's a guy for the Cottage Hills area. I don't know those people either."

"I have never ever talked to them at any time except when we had our area towing thing worked out a couple of months back, three or four months, whatever it was, whenever we put it in."

Rainfall during July in the Quad-City area measured 3.48 inches, or 28 of an inch above the July normal precipitation of 3.20 inches, according to statistics compiled by the Press-Record.

Rain fell on eight days of the month with a trace registered on one day. A trace is moisture too light to be measured.

Heaviest rain of the month was registered on July 2 when precipitation was registered at 1.20 inches.

Rainfall on other days included .68 of an inch on July 9, .62 of an inch on July 10, .63 of an inch on July 13, .68 of an inch on July 15, .54 of an inch on July 24, .30 of an inch on July 25 and .53 of an inch on July 27.

Precipitation for the month brought to 21 inches the total rainfall for the first seven months of this year, or 27 of an inch less than the normal fall of 21.27 inches for the same period.

The July total was the third highest rainfall of any single month this year. During March the Quad-City received 5.48 inches of rain compared to a normal of 2.34 inches, and during May received 5.54 inches compared to a normal of 3.73 inches.

Other rainfall readings this year, with the normal shown in parenthesis, were: January 2.08 (1.98); February .79 of an inch (2.04); April 2.14 (3.71); June 1.49 (4.27).

In Memoriam 33
One year ago today August 14, 1977 a true friend of ours received a better offer—DENNIS RAY BROWN was taken from our midst to meet what lies on the flip side of life. He is gone in body, but his spirit remains. Our emotions ran the gambit from tears to terror; anger and fear—as death had hit so near. Many lessons were learned and their meanings not to be spurned. Dennis is not forgotten by the many who loved him.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD Mon., August 14, 1978 Page 19
Births, deaths show decline during July
A total of 58 births reported in the Quad-City area during July dropped by 17 below the total of 75 reported in the same month a year ago, while the total of 38 deaths last month declined from 47 in the same month a year ago, according to a vital statistics report released by City Clerk Robert Stevens.

The report listed only one fetal death last month, up from none reported in July 1977. The 59 July births was a decline of one below the 60 reported in June this year, while the 38 deaths last month was a decline of one below the 39 reported the previous month. The one fetal death, however, was a decline of two below the three fetal deaths reported in July of the first seven months of this year, a decline of 169, or 28 percent below the 588 births reported during the same period last year.

The 38 deaths reported in July brought the total to 273 for the seven-month period, down 66, or 19.4 percent, from the total of 339 in the same period a year ago. There was a total of seven fetuses for the period, down from nine in the same period last year.

Police were called to the Upper Level lounge, 19th and State streets, at 1:15 a.m. Friday, when a man became angry at being told he was barred from the tavern and a disturbance erupted. Chief of Police Ronald J. Veizer ordered the tavern closed for the remainder of the legal opening hours to prevent further problems.

Officers arrested Leland W. Mathes, 24, of 2757 Iowa St., who allegedly grabbed the lounge door, ripped off his shirt and pushed him around after being advised he was barred from the premises, according to authorities.

While police were at the lounge talking with Mathes, another man, Gordon C. Caldwell, 21, of 305 West Chain of Rocks Road, allegedly began causing a disturbance and was arrested.

Mathes was charged with battery and Caldwell was booked on a disorderly conduct charge.

Both were released a short time later on payment of $35 cash bonds.

'The storyteller' shines despite rain

As the audience began arriving at the Mississippi River Festival site Thursday evening, a steady, light rain fell but it didn't even bother the 6,000 loyal fans who attended to hear 'the storyteller' Harry Chapin. At left ... Harry (right) and brother Steve, peeking over the piano, harmonize their voices during one of the many older songs by Chapin and his band. Below left ... The already rain-soaked crowd waits patiently for the beginning of the nearly three-hour show which began with a couple of new songs by Harry and his guitar. Below ... "You can always count on the cheap seats," Harry says smilingly, referring to the less expensive lawn seating, during the encore song "All My Life's a Circle," which the audience joined. The audience helped with several songs during the evening as Chapin had the audience in his hands and the audience loved it. After the concert, Harry mingled with the crowd staying to nearly midnight signing autographs and just being 'Harry.'
